

Wiretapping of internet communications will only infringe on privacy rights of honest citizens and will not stop the ability for those wanting to transmit messages accross the internet. Coded images hosted on webpages can serve the same function as a phone call over VOIP. Therefore wiretapping VOIP will not provide the solution the FBI wants and only infringes on the rights of citizens for no reason.